“When you’re ready to see, you will see. Until then, these pages are only trees. But to me, they’re alive — talking, showing themselves, sometimes even hiding in plain sight.”

Big Guy with Eye

He blends into bark until you stop long enough for the outline to lean forward.

Lit Face Amidst Trees — Original

This one needed no help — the light did the talking.

Many Watchers in the Branches

Many watchers, blurred in pixels, clearer in the moment.

Shrubbery Faces — Cropped Bottom

Faces clustered in the shrubbery — blurred, but alive to me.

Canopy and Looming Cloud

Canopy alive, cloud looming over.

“Some faces show up bold, others hide in grain. That’s alright. Forests don’t perform; they live. When the time comes, you’ll see too.”
